

digit<all>

The CODE Awards

Celebrate the digital achievements of young people

The CODE Awards (Champions of Digital Engineering) are an annual celebrations of the innovations of young people across the UK. At Digit<all>, we are passionate about supporting schools and community groups to help them elevate the young digital leaders of the future and these awards enable young people to showcase their achievements individually or as a team.

In our first year of the awards (2024), we received nominations from over 80 schools and communities and celebrated 15 winners and 35 commended entries, receiving trophies, certificates and Amazon vouchers in recognition of their contribution to creating digital solutions through coding, engineering, robotics, digital fundraising and so much more.

CODE Award Advocates

The awards are spearheaded by three amazing young women in technology – Manisha Gurung, Grace Blake and Kiara Jones, working in digital healthcare, AI and Cyber Security. These inspirational digital leaders also provide mentoring and coaching for winning senior entrants and support the judging alongside Digit<all> volunteers and ambassadors.

For 2025, we are providing some new umbrella categories of:

- Digit<all> Citizen
- Digit<all> Defender
- Digit<all> Creative
- Digit<all> Engineer
- Digit<all> Scientist

digit<all>

The CODE Awards

Celebrate the digital achievements of young people

There is the opportunity to support the CODE Awards 2025 by sponsoring one of the categories. With funding of £1400, sponsors can support the awards by:

With funding of £1400, sponsors can support the awards by:

- Defining their own award category that reflects their values and vision
- Providing their logo for the website, communications and to be used on certificates and trophies
- Choosing winning and commended entries from a shortlisted group
- Attend our online awards celebrations, sharing details about their organisation and the work they do
- Provide a 'swag bag' for winners and commended entries (optional)

This fund will enable:

- The processes of application, judging and shortlisting of entries across the UK
- The provision of certificates, trophies and Amazon vouchers
- The promotion of the CODE Awards to schools and community groups through networks and social media
- Enabling a face-to-face awards opportunity
- Showcasing and case study building for funders and for the website.

To express an interest in the awards please get in touch:

info@digitall.charity