

Subject: Security alert

From: Google <no-reply@accounts.google.com>

Date: 4/21/2026, 10:03 am

To: [REDACTED]

You allowed Thunderbird for Android access to some of your Google Account data

[REDACTED]

If you didn't allow Thunderbird for Android access to some of your Google Account data, someone else may be trying to access your Google Account data.

Take a moment now to check your account activity and secure your account.

Check activity

To make changes at any time to the access that Thunderbird for Android has to your data, go to your Google Account

You can also see security activity at
<https://myaccount.google.com/notifications>

You received this email to let you know about important changes to your Google Account and services.

© 2026 Google LLC, 1600 Amphitheatre Parkway, Mountain View, CA 94043, USA